INTRODUCTION:

I. The External Evaluation procedure

• Short description of the documents that have been studied, of the on site visit meetings, and of the on site visit to the infrastructures.

The committee were sent document 200.1 and a number of annexes see below and were provided with a hard copy of a presentation during the day of the visit. The documentation provided was for "Accreditation – New Program of Study" however on the day of the visit the programme had been running for a number of years and the committee were informed this was a re-accreditation.

II. The Internal Evaluation procedure

• Comments concerning the quality and the completeness of the application submitted by the institution of higher education (Doc. Number 200.1), as well as concerning the overall acceptance of and participation in the quality assurance procedures, by the institution in general and by the program of study under evaluation in particular.

Document 200.1 did not indicate that this was a re-accreditation and section 11 'feasibility study' suggested that this programme would have "an initial number of 25 students" and this "would be adequate in making this programme feasible in the first instance". This was misleading as (a) the programme had been running for around 7-8 years already and (b) current entry levels are around 7 students per annum presently. Although these students take courses with other students to make cohort size reasonable, the more specialized courses have very few students on them.

The institution and programme team were represented and fully engaged with the committee in discussing the programme accreditation process.

FINDINGS:

1. EFFECTIVENESS OF TEACHING WORK - AVAILABLE RESOURCES

- Organization of Teaching Work
- Teaching
- Teaching personnel

Overall the committee were satisfied that the courses created a coherent programme of study and the teaching materials were adequate. The teaching personnel were dedicated to their subject area, professional and worked with the best interests of the students at heart. Small numbers of students on the programme resulted in a focussed, supportive and accessible learning environment.

2. PROGRAM OF STUDY AND HIGHER EDUCATION QUALIFICATIONS

- Purpose and Objectives and learning outcomes of the Program of Study
- Structure and Content of the Program of studies
- Quality Assurance of the Program of studies
- Management of the Program of Study
- International Dimension of the Program of Study
- Connection with the labor market and the society

Given the subject area the committee were generally satisfied with the purpose, objectives and content of the Programme of study.

The committee felt the structure and content were satisfactory although there was a mismatch between current content and the new vision of the college.

The committee was satisfied with the Quality Assurance mechanism.

The committee was confident that the management of the Programme of Study was satisfactory.

The committee was satisfied with the International Dimension of the Programme and noted a high degree of international students on the programme historically.

The committee noted the engagement of a significant number of industrial partners notes that work is underway to systematically collect data on alumni destinations.

3. RESEARCH WORK AND SYNERGIES WITH TEACHING

- Research Teaching Synergies

Overall, the committee noted recent developments with the introduction of a new Intercollege Research Centre to address a known weakness in supporting faculty staff in their research endeavors.

The committee felt there is something of a gap between institutional rhetoric and general staff research activity and outputs but notes the above to help address this which is welcomed by the committee. Much stress is given to research activities and synergies with teaching. However significant steps could be made in linking staff time for research, with financial support, developing research expertise leading to publication in reputable journals & in bid writing to secure external funding.

4. ADMINISTRATION SERVICES, STUDENT WELFARE AND SUPPORT OF TEACHING WORK

- Administrative Mechanisms
- Infrastructures / Support
- Financial Resources

The committee were satisfied in all these areas.

CONCLUSIONS AND SUGGESTIONS OF THE EXTERNAL EVALUATION COMMITTEE<sup>1</sup>

• The present situation of the program, good practices, weaknesses that have been detected during the external evaluation procedure by the external evaluation committee, suggestions for improvement.

Overall the committee felt the programme was coherent and presented a valuable learning experience for students. The programme team also appreciated the input of the committee and acknowledged it as being a constructive learning experience for their staff.

The committee particularly noted the engagement of an Industrial Liaison Group to add value to the student experience and that research was being taken seriously as evidenced by the new Intercollege Research Centre and the proactive encouragement of staff to attend various conferences, particularly at the University of Nicosia.

The committee felt the programme could develop a distinctiveness aligned with the stated strategy of Intercollege Larnaca and this may help to improve the demand side of the programme over time.

&lt;sup>1</sup> It is highlighted, at this point, that the External Evaluation Committee is expected to justify its findings and its suggestions on the basis of the Document num.: 300.1. The External Evaluation Committee is not expected to submit a suggestion for the approval or the rejection of the program of study under evaluation. This decision falls under the competencies of the Council of the Agency of Quality Assurance and Accreditation of higher education.

- 1.1.2 The total number of students on the whole programme is small (n=33). However small numbers were seen by both staff and students to have advantages with regard to the quality and nature of pedagogic interactions. Course numbers were increased with students from other programmes. Internationally the viability of each year would be questionable.
- 1.1.3.3 Course outlines were available and found to be up-to-date. However we did not see course web-pages so are unable to comment.
- 1.1.3.4 Students expressed a need for even more opportunities for practical training with assignments. Procedures were indeed in place, at course level, but students would welcome more help with practical assignments related to real world contexts/challenges.

- 1.1.4.2 Happy with access to e-resources. However hard copy collection might usefully be improved.
- 1.1.4.4 There appears to be a mismatch in perceptions of welfare provision between students and staff. Student welfare support was available but students were either reluctant to access the services or did not know they existed. Better communication of these services to students would be advantageous
- 1.1.4.5 The advantage of small class sizes and staff that have been at the college for considerable number of years and therefore fully conversant with academic mentoring challenges of the sector, lead to this being very satisfactory
- 1.1.8 Limited evidence provided, although noted that students cannot resit the final exam.
- 1.1.11 Turnitin was welcomed but the staff's responsibility to upload to Turnitin rather than this being mandatory / automatic by the students

Note, additionally:

- a) the expected number of Cypriot and International Students in the program of study.
- Data indicated that this was attractive to the international body with a significant percentage of students being international over the past 4 years
- $\beta$ ) the countries of origin of the majority of students. Data not presented at the visit
- y) the maximum planned number of students per class-section.

This is not currently a consideration as numbers are so low on the programme and in the college

1.2.4 Criteria regarding student course performance appears to be embedded in course subsection called 'Learning Outcomes'. Performance criteria for each assignment, especially the 40% (non-exams) were absent and might usefully be made explicit although it was noted that an external audit of such materials are undertaken annually.

- 1.3.2.2 We feel more can be done to nurture a vibrant and applied research culture within the institution. This might include even more staff support to write in more reputable peer reviewed journals.
- 1.3.3. Documentation confirmed the number of visiting professors although the comparability of all visiting professors to international standards is questionable. It is unusual for someone without a PhD to be conferred the title of visiting professor as opposed to visiting academic.
- 1.3.6 Our working assumption that professional qualification equates to one level higher than BA, so this would be acceptable and this is consistent with practice in the UK and internationally.
- 1.3.9 The committee feel that staff are unable to develop a coherent research strategy with reasonable output with 16 hours of contact per week.
- 1.3.10 Small numbers on the programme may give concerns of sustainability given Document 200.1 states a size of 25 is required to make the programme feasible in the first instance (implying it would increase from that point onwards). The committee is sympathetic to the challenges in Cyprus post 2015 and the issues affecting demand for programmes.

| 2.1.7 | The higher education qualification awarded to the students, corresponds to the purpose and objectives and the learning outcomes of the program.  |  |   | X |

2.1.1 The committee feel that a rating of 5 is appropriate for 'the purpose and objectives of the program of study are formulated in terms of expected learning outcomes' however the strategy of the college was described as one aligning with the blue economy and therefore developing specialist programmes. A general Bachelor in Business Administration seems to be at odds with a strategy of building on an area of specialism and growing expertise and thus the committee felt a lower grade overall should be identified given there is a disconnect with this being 'consistent with the mission and the strategy of the institution'.

| 2.2.3 | The program of study is structured in a consistent manner and in sequence, so that concepts operating as preconditions precede the teaching of other, more complex and cognitively more demanding, concepts.                         |   | X |

| 2.2.9 | Flexible options / adaptable to the personal needs or to the needs of students with special needs, are provided.   |   | X |

- 2.2.5 The committee felt it was difficult to see how electives form a thematic cluster or for students
- 2.2.8 There was limited evidence of this presently but the college is growing engagement with research as seen through the new intercollege research centre.

Note the expected number of students who will be studying simultaneously at another academic institution, based on your experience so far, regarding students who study simultaneously in the programs of your institution.

The Panel welcomed this. However significant steps could be made in linking staff time for research, with financial support, developing research expertise leading to publication in reputable journals & in bid writing to secure external funding. A coherent and joined up strategy for this is suggested by the Panel.

FINAL REMARKS - SUGGESTIONS

Please note your final remarks and suggestions for the program of study and/or regarding particular aspects of the program.

The committee appreciated the dedication of staff who were responsible for this programme and the manner in which they engaged with the committee.

The committee appreciated that the size of the institution and the programme being re-accredited brought with it significant benefits, especially with regard to the pedagogical interactions with the students. However this report does highlight some limitations and constraints moving forward especially in relation to further developing the vibrancy and industry impact of the programme and how teaching is research informed.

Given the wider political and policy context within which this programme is embedded the committee acknowledged and appreciated the constraints articulated by staff. However the committee encourages staff to further develop the distinctiveness of this programme, by playing to institutional strengths, further developing its industry links that inform and positively transform the programme and further developing ways to underpin the programme with appropriate research.

Overall the committee feels that the pedagogy of the programme is robust and the teaching team have the skills necessary to deliver a successful programme. It is therefore recommend to re-accredit the programme.
